

BENO

DJ, producer, and co-founder of Banana Gold Records, Mangolab, and Frisson — Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

From the studio to the floor

Beno is a Brazilian DJ and music producer steadily gaining ground in the electronic music scene. Also active on the business side of the industry, he is a partner and founder of the labels Banana Gold Records and Mangolab, two platforms that drive club culture and promote standout experiences in Rio de Janeiro and other Brazilian cities.

Roots in Brazilian pop

He began his career in music production within Brazil's pop market, working with artists such as Sain, Mateus Carrilho, Ebony, Elba Ramalho, Slip Mami, Larinhx, JOCA, BK, Borges, Xande de Pilares, Afroito, and Tassia Reis, amassing over 100 million plays throughout his career. During this period, he built direct relationships with publishers such as Alta Fonte and Believe, as well as record labels such as Warner, Sony Music, and Som Livre, producing artists alongside these labels.

A sound of his own

In recent years, he has shifted focus toward his artistic career on the dancefloor, developing original sets that blend edits with his own productions. His sound is groovy and psychedelic, drawing on musical influences from around the world, moving between Disco, House, Acid, Electro, and Miami Bass. He has signed official remixes for Letrux ("Flerte Revival"), Trio Mocotó ("Os Orixás," via Mangolab), and Mary Olivetti, and has himself been remixed by artists such as ScruScru and Zopelar.

Support

His work has been receiving recurring support from major DJs in Brazil and abroad. Artists such as Diplo, Folamour, Millos Kaiser, Trepanado, Lipelis, ScruScru, ToyTonics, Giu Nunez, Mulú, and Deekpz are among the names who have already played his productions.

Labels around the world

As a producer, he has also been receiving support from labels around the world, with releases through imprints such as Apparel Music (Italy), Tunes Delivery (Russia), Tropicana (Portugal), Blur Records (Angola), The Basement Disco (Spain), Plastik People (USA), and Oásis (Portugal).

Frisson

Beno is also a partner and founder of Frisson, a bar and record store in Rio de Janeiro that has become a meeting point for the city's music scene — a space where music, vinyl curation, and club culture meet every day.

Handmade sound

Self-taught in sound engineering and acoustics, Beno designs speakers alongside his partner Bernardo Perpétuo — that's how Frisson's own speakers came to life, built by hand.

Digger

Vinyl research is central to Beno's work: he has traveled many times in search of groovy sounds, digging for rare records and original influences. He is a resident at Major, in São Paulo, as well as at Frisson, his own all-vinyl bar in Rio de Janeiro. In these sets, his sound takes on a more organic, retro character, geared toward Disco Music and Boogie.
